

Use Annotator

Annotator is a component of the InkVisitor software adapted to the annotation of full-texts. Unlike most annotation tools, it is connected to a robust and historically informed entity-relationship data model, which allows you to smoothly create entities and build your ontology as you go.

After you have uploaded the full-text, linked it to a Resource, and added a Territory's anchor in the full-text, you will need to understand the Annotator component and start using it efficiently.

[To be expanded soon with a user manual of sorts :-)]
